

February 2014

To who it may concern:

I had the pleasure to work closely with Paige for over 2 years. I have seen her come into my company which has pay 100% based off performance. Paige not only survived but she excelled. Paige consistently set every single sales record in our company.

In any sales environment Paige would excel. She brings experience, passion, work ethic, integrity, and most importantly a strong student mentality and social intelligence to any business.

Paige has the ability to also handle the emotional tests that any sales person will face. In a competitive and professional environment, Paige would be an asset to any companies organization.
